DETAILED ACTION

Information Disclosure Statement

1. The information disclosure statement (IDS) submitted on January 10, 2008, is being considered by the examiner.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 101

2. 35 U.S.C. 101 reads as follows:

Whoever invents or discovers any new and useful process, machine, manufacture, or composition of matter, or any new and useful improvement thereof, may obtain a patent therefor, subject to the conditions and requirements of this title.

Claims 8-10, 12, 14-16, 18, and 31-32 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 101 because the claimed invention is directed to non-statutory subject matter.

Claims 10, 16, and 32 are directed to a computer program. Computer programs claimed as the description or expressions of the programs are not physical "things." They are neither computer components nor statutory processes, as they are not "acts" being performed. Such claimed computer programs do not define any structural and functional interrelationships between the computer program and other claimed elements of a computer, which permit the computer program's functionality to be realized. Since a computer program is merely a set of instructions capable of being executed by a computer, the computer program itself is not a process (see USPTO Interim Guidelines for Patent Subject Matter Eligibility) and the Office treats a claim for a computer program, without the computer-readable medium needed to realize the computer program's functionality, as nonstatutory functional descriptive material. When a computer program is claimed in a process where the computer is executing the computer program's instructions, the Office treats the claim as a process claim. When a computer program is recited in conjunction with a physical structure, such as a computer memory, the Office treats the claim as a product claim.

Regarding claim 16, although claim 16 recites "A system for recognizing voice commands for manipulating data on the Internet," the system elements are logic for program steps of the computer program, and thus claim 16 is actually a computer program and not an actual system.

Allowable Subject Matter

3. Claims 2-4 and 6 are allowed.

Response to Arguments

4. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 8-10, 12, 14-16, 18, and 31-32 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.
